Viva Music School

10th Anniversary Celebration

Date : 7 December 2024
 Time : 10 a.m. to 3 p.m.
 Venue : Oaks Recreation Club

All current students are cordially invited to attend!

PROGRAMME

Time	Activity
10 a.m.	Form groups of four and play team games
12 p.m.	Make your own burger for lunch
1 p.m.	Create a class poster with your classmates

To register, log in to your student account to accept the personal invitation by 24 November 2024.

Look at this message, Betty! Your music school is holding an event. Since only current students are invited, you could go with someone from your guitar class.

I can ask Karen, but she has a busy rehearsal schedule because of an upcoming performance.

You can help by reminding her about that. Before she registers, she must make sure that the event does not clash with a rehearsal.

Thanks, Dad! I'll do that right away.

Your Task

Imagine you are Betty.

Write an email to Karen to persuade her to join the event.

You are to refer to the picture and information on page 2 for your email. The bullet point underlined below requires you to come up with your own information.

In your writing, include the following key information:

the date and time of the event

two group activities she will get to do

why she must register for the event herself

how she can make sure that the event does not clash with a rehearsal

You may reorder the points. Remember to write in complete sentences.

Part 2: Continuous Writing (36 marks)

- 2 Write a composition of at least 150 words about a difficult choice.

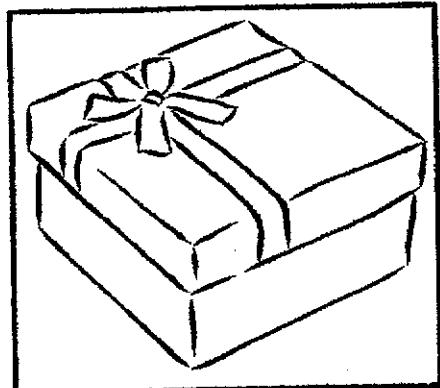

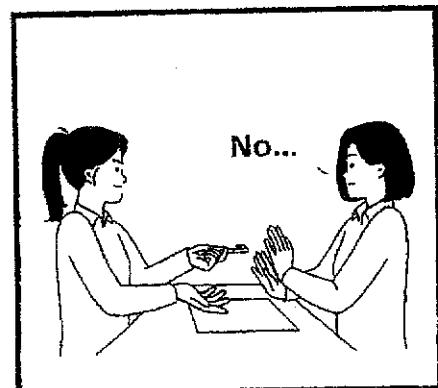

The pictures are provided to help you think about this topic.

Your composition should be based on one or more of these pictures.

Consider the following points when you plan your composition:

- What was the choice?
- How was it a difficult choice?

You may use the points in any order and include other relevant points as well.

An oil spill has led to beaches around Singapore being closed. A moving Netherlands dredger had struck a stationary Singapore vessel. This ruptured one oil cargo tank, releasing about 400 tonnes of fuel into the sea. Oil stained the sand of the beaches black, sending the stench of petrochemicals in the air. Clean-up efforts are underway, as oil slicks have also spread to Johor. The crews are working round the clock to limit the impact on wildlife after two oil-soaked kingfishers died. Organisms such as sea turtles can ingest oil which blocks airways, fills stomachs and damages tissues and organs. About 100 workers are deployed daily to clean up beaches affected by the oil spill. The public is advised against fishing and foraging for marine wildlife. The scale of the impact is still unknown.

The extract below is taken from an online article on shampoos.

Unlike how they are advertised, most shampoos in the market are similar in composition and function. They share common key ingredients such as water, detergents, conditioners and preservatives. While manufacturers boast real benefits and unmatched effectiveness, a closer look at the ingredient lists reveals striking similarities.

The differences between brands often lie in slight variations in the ingredients or the amount of each ingredient used. However, the differences between products of the same brand often lie in the fragrances and dyes used or the marketing claims made rather than variations in their basic components. Thus, the remarkable effects splashed across their packaging are often misleading. The truth is, we do not need to be picky when selecting shampoos unless a dermatologist recommends one to deal with specific hair and scalp issues.

For each question from 21 to 25, shade your answer (1, 2, 3 or 4) on the Optical Answer Sheet.

21 According to the poster in Text 1, which of the following is true of the shampoo collection?

- (1) The shampoo collection is sold in sets of three.
- (2) Each bottle of shampoo in the collection costs $25.
- (3) The name of the shampoo collection is Purelocks Pro.
- (4) Each shampoo in the collection has a different floral fragrance.

22 "Embrace your transformation!" Why did the writer make this statement in Text 1? It is to _____.

- (1) encourage people to accept their changes
- (2) motivate people to try the shampoo collection
- (3) offer people advice about choosing shampoos
- (4) inform people about the shampoo collection's aim

23 The quote from Steph Lim is included in the poster in Text 1 to show that the shampoo collection _____.

- (1) is her favourite
- (2) made her hair healthy
- (3) will be available for a limited period
- (4) lives up to a TV personality's expectations

24 "Three unique formulas to offer maximum benefits!" The picture of the shampoo collection supports this by giving the impression that the shampoos _____.

- (1) suit different people
- (2) serve different purposes
- (3) are sold at different prices
- (4) contain different ingredients

25 We cannot be sure that the shampoo collection in Text 1 is worth purchasing over other brands because Text 2 says _____.

- (1) most shampoos in the market are similar in composition and function
- (2) a dermatologist can recommend a shampoo to deal with specific hair and scalp issues
- (3) the remarkable effects splashed across their packaging are often misleading
- (4) manufacturers boast the real benefits and unmatched effectiveness of their shampoos

Read this passage and answer questions 66 to 75 which are on pages 6 to 8 in Booklet B.

Leo walked through the school gates clutching his schoolbag, which had lost its colour. He felt a lump form in his throat as he did not know anyone and was not sure what to expect from this new place.

"Where's 5 Kindness?" he wondered, while walking along the narrow corridor. He could see groups of students chatting and laughing, their voices blending into a joyful cacophony that only made him feel more alone. Soon, Leo noticed that some of the students were starting to turn and look in his direction, their curiosity piqued by the new face in their midst. His hands grew clammy, and he continued looking for his new classroom. 5

Down the corridor, Alex looked up from his book and caught a glance of the boy who was walking alone, obviously looking lost. Leo was lanky with narrow shoulders and had unkempt hair. His uniform was torn and tattered. "Not another poor boy?" Alex thought. Just then, the first bell rang, and all the 10 students made a beeline for their classrooms.

"Class, meet your new classmate, Leo," Mrs Lee introduced Leo to the class. As Leo walked to an empty desk in the corner of the room, he could feel the eyes of his new classmates on him. Whispers floated through the room, and he felt a deep flush of embarrassment. A feeling of dread came over him as he dragged his feet to his new seat. 15

To Alex's dismay, he had been given the task of guiding Leo around the school, but he had no intention to do it. All he wanted to do was mind his own business and finish the book he was reading. "Hi," Leo said meekly before taking his seat, desperately hoping for the lesson to begin. "My day could not get any worse," Alex thought to himself. He rolled his eyes as his new seat partner sat down.

Throughout the day, Alex paid no attention to his new classmate and buried himself in his novel. 20 Leo, having caught the signals, kept to himself, and tried to do all his tasks independently. Memories that Leo had in his previous school flashed before his eyes. He missed the good times he had had with his old friends. Having moved to another city, Leo did not have a choice but to attend a new school which was nearer to their new home. Biting his lip and fighting back the tears in his eyes, Leo willed himself to focus on what lay ahead. 25

Ring! The dismissal bell rang. My dreadful day is finally over, Leo thought, as he heaved a sigh of relief. He could not wait to head home. As he walked out of the school gate, he noticed his seat partner walking ahead of him. Just then, a feeble-looking old lady walked past. She held out a cardboard sign bearing a plea for help with her weathered hands before stretching out her hands towards Alex.

"I've not eaten for days. Have some pity on me," she said weakly. Alex turned away and 30 continued walking forward without a second glance.

"Thank you, young boy!" Alex heard the same voice again. He looked back and to his surprise, the new boy was right behind him. "I don't have much but take these two coins. You need them more than me," Leo said with a little grin, his hand stretched out towards the old lady.

Alex watched in astonishment as Leo's simple act brought an immediate smile to the woman's crinkly face. Unbothered by Alex's presence, Leo continued walking ahead. Alex was left baffled by all that had transpired. Embarrassed, he realised that true happiness was not measured by how much one has, but in the depth of one's generosity. 35

The next day, Alex began to pay more attention to Leo, helping him when the need arose. Over time, the duo became the best of friends. The boys' relationship was a far cry from Leo's first day in school. 40

The beluga whale, also known as the white whale, is one of the smallest species of whale. The whale's colour _____ protruding forehead make it easily recognisable. It
 (26) _____ a very flexible neck that allows it to nod.
 (27)

Belugas are extremely sociable mammals. They live, hunt and migrate together
 (28) pods, ranging from a few to hundreds of whales. _____ can produce a series of chirps, clicks, whistles and squeals. This gives the beluga (29) other name, "the canary of the sea". The sounds (30) sound like music or even nonsense to human beings,
 (31) to fellow belugas, they relay important information.
 (32)

Belugas feed (33) a variety of fish species, such as salmon and cod. _____
 (34) whales are commonly found in the Arctic Ocean, and they migrate southward as the sea ice forms in the fall. They return (35) feed again in the spring, as the ice breaks up.

The whale is related to the tusked "unicorn" whale known as the narwhal. This is also the reason why many children love the beluga whale.

Have you heard of Siri or Bixby? Have you ever _____ a car moving on its own without a person driving it? All these technologies have something in _____: they use artificial intelligence, or "AI."

As our world continues to advance, we _____ an increasingly complex challenge — the need to process vast amounts of data quickly and precisely. This has made AI a necessary technology. AI refers to computer systems that can _____ out tasks that usually require human intelligence. Its usefulness lies in its ability to programme _____ simple and complicated tasks. _____ a global scale, AI helps us track and forecast weather patterns, whereas on a smaller scale, AI can be found in our everyday life from toys to applications that help us type and communicate. AI is all around us, and _____ you realise it or not, people use AI every single day. _____, a powerful form of AI called chatbots have become more common. This was unthinkable a decade ago.

A chatbot is a computer programme that allows humans to interact _____ a digital device as if they were talking with a real person. When seeking for _____ to any questions, chatbots have a knowledge base of information that they refer to. It can combine this information in reasonable ways to answer questions. An example is Kuki the chatbot. Kuki's intelligence includes the _____ to reason with specific objects. If someone _____, "Can you eat a house?" Kuki will search the attributes for 'house'. When it finds out that a house is made of bricks, it replies 'no,' as a brick cannot be _____.

While chatbots have made great improvements, it is crucial to _____ in mind that they may not be appropriate for every situation. Some people may be tempted to use AI chatbots to write out their entire essays. However, one must be aware that this is also a form of plagiarism — the practice of _____ another person's ideas, words or work and pretending that they are their own. Nevertheless, as technology continues to advance, we can expect chatbots to become even more sophisticated and capable of handling a wider range of tasks.
